How it works

HomeCurrencyPay processes all of the world's major currencies. It's fully automated. Your HomeCurrencyPay-enabled point-of-sale terminal does the work for you:

Step 1

Insert or swipe the international Mastercard or Visa card. The system will identify the home currency and convert it automatically.

Step 2

The cardholder presses the corresponding key on the terminal to pay in their home currency, or to pay in Canadian dollars. The currency conversion rate is displayed at the top of the screen.

Step 3

The cardholder enters their PIN to process the Chip transaction or provides signature to complete the swiped transaction.

Step 4

Merchant completes the payment transaction and gives the customer a copy of the receipt which shows the Canadian dollar purchase price, the exchange rate, and the final price in the cardholder's home currency*.

After the sale

Your credit for every foreign transaction processed through HomeCurrencyPay is included in your monthly processing statement. Your settlement is in Canadian Dollars.

*Customer's card issuer may charge additional transaction fees.
